Numb. 1809

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Monday March 19. to Thursday March 22. 1682.

Dantzick, March 9.

THe Letters from Warsaw tell us, That the Emperor's Ambassador had made a very good Progress in his Negotiation concerning the defensive League between the Emperor and that Crown, and that the Dyet had resolved that 20000 Men should be forthwith raised for the assistance of the Emperor, and had declared, That this Resolution should stand and be of Force, although the Dyet should be broken up through the Protestation of any of the Deputies; That the Baron de Cracaw, Ambassador from the Elector of Brandenburg, was arrived at Warsaw, and that he found the dissatisfaction which that Court had conceived at the Marriage between Prince Louis of Brandenburg, the Elector's second Son, and the Princess Radzeville, not yet removed.

Stockholm, March 10. The News we have from Copenhagen, That the King of Denmark has given out Commissions for the raising 30 Troops of Horse, and several Regiments of Foot, and has ordered 36 Ships to be fitted out, has given this Court great Jealousie, and upon it the King of Sweden has resolved likewise to put a Fleet to Sea, and has ordered General Aschenberg to repair to his Government of Schonen. Count Athelm, the Imperial Minister, has of late had frequent Conferences with the Ministers here, which makes us believe that this Crown is entring into new Engagements with the Emperor.

Vienna, March 11. The Express which arrived here some days since from Adrianople, brought Letters from the Imperial Minister, the Count de Caprara, Dated the 29th of January, wherein he gives the Emperor an account, That he had had a Conference with the Aga of the Janizaries, who had demanded of him whether the Emperor did accept the Proposals which had some time agone been made to him by order of the Sultan, viz. That his Imperial Majesty should yield to the Grand Signior the Fortresses of Canorra and Raab, with the Island Schutz, and the Islands Rabam and Setin, and that in consideration thereof the Grand Signior would renew the Peace with his Imperial Majesty: That he (the Count of Caprara) had answered, That he had not received any Instructions from his Imperial Majesty upon those Proposals, much less Orders to agree to them; and that the Aga had replied, That seeing the Emperor would not grant these Demands by a Treaty, the Grand Signior would obtain them by the Sword, and that some days after the Horses Tail had been hung out, as the Sign of War; That the Grand Signior had sent his Orders to the Kam of Tartary, to March with his Forces towards Hungary, as likewise to the Princes of Moldavia, Walachia, and Transilvania, and to Count Teckeley, to have their Troops in readiness to take the Field upon the first Summons; That the Aga of the Janizaries was to March with the Avant-Guard of the Army on the 25th of this Month, and that the Grand Signior would follow about eight days after, and that a House was Building near Belgrade to receive him. There are Letters from Buda, of the 27th of February, which tell us, That the Turks were Building 50 Boats or small Vessels there, and 100 at Belgrade and Effeckz. The ninth arrived here the Sieur Hoffman, Adjutant General of the Imperial Army, from Caschaw, whither he was lately sent by the Emperor with some Proposals to Count Teckeley; we do not yet hear particularly what Report he has made to the Emperor, but in general it is said, That Count Teckeley is making all the Preparation he can for the Campagne, and that all the Professions he has made of his desires of Peace may justly be suspected to have been with a design to amuse this Court. Upon these advices people here have wholly cast away the hopes they had of Peace, and nothing is now thought of but War, for which all possible Preparations are making on this side; and we are assured that the Emperor will have a very brave Army in the Field by the beginning of May. A general Rendezvous is appointed to be held on the 28th of this Month, at which the Emperor will be present: The Palatine of Hungary and the Vice-roy of Croatia have undertaken to bring each of them 10000 Men into the Field, being the Militia of those Countreys, which will be formed into Regiments, and put under good Officers. The great Bridges on the Danube are to be broken down, and Bridges of Boats will be laid there in their rooms. The Count de Lamberg is returning to the Court at Berlin, with new Instructions, and we do perswade our selves, That the Elector of Brandenburg will be brought to enter into Engagements with the Emperor.

Ratisbonne, March 11. On the 27th past the College of Princes did, by way of Answer to the last Conclusion of the Electoral College, declare, That the differing opinions of the two Colledges ought to be sent to the Emperor, to know which of them his Imperial Majesty did best approve; and that the Projects that had been proposed for the providing for the Security of the Empire, ought to be put in execution before they began the Negotiation with the French Minister, the Count de Oretz, of which communication having been given to the Electoral Colledge, they did thereupon resolve by plurality of Voices, That they ought to persist in their former Resolution, to accept of the Propositions made by the Most Christian King; That it did not suit with the Dignity of the Electoral College to have Rules prescribed them by that of the Princes; That it was contrary to the Liberty of the States of the Empire to submit their Conclusions to the Decision of the Court at Vienna, and that the Projects proposed for the Arming of the Empire, under pretence of providing for the publick